What if man evolved one more time? MAC ONE - Firstborn, is a story about a little guy named Michael Adam Cooper who is conceived naturally as man's next step in evolution. Mac, as the H. Novus (New Man) along with his abilities and mere existence, will stir the religious, political, and economic pots around the world. Some want to use him to increase their power, some for financial gain, and some want him dead. A few even want to clone Mac. Mac's birth will change the world beyond return. According to the anthropologic community, H. Sapiens made their appearance approximately 250,000 years ago. For some time now scientists have been speculating about what the next step in human evolution would look like. Secretly, and not so secretly, humans have been trying to accelerate their own evolution using eugenics, genetic engineering, and special formulas.
