Excerpt from Must Protestantism Adopt Christian Science?: A Churchman's View

The purpose of this book is to incite churches to revive the faith and practice of primitive Christianity. Christian Science is showing that such a program can be successfully carried out.

When the author began to study this movement as a social phenomenon he was repelled by the mess of apparent contradictions, seemingly incorrect interpretations of the Bible, and assumptions which were repugnant to his ecclesiastical egotism.

As persistent investigation elevated his thought to higher planes of spiritual understanding and intuition, he began to realize that Christian Science is reviving the teachings and practice of Jesus the Christ, who as the type of the new manhood must be wrought into the new humanity.
