Over 400 short videos highlight the steps in a full-body human dissection in the gross anatomy lab. Each step is narrated and key structures labeled. Text of the audio is included for each video so that the narration can be appreciated without audio as well. In addition, key structures are defined and linked to a library of illustrations from the Atlas of Human Anatomy by world-renowned physician-artist Frank H. Netter, MD. The illustrations can be viewed in Test-Yourself mode to quiz your knowledge of structure names.
